ELKS' "MOVIE" BALL DRAWS BIG CROWD

Number Present Estimated at Nearly Four Thousand—Miss Viola Dana, Metro Screen Star, the Center of Admiring Crowd—Party One of the Season's Greatest Successes

One of the biggest social successes of the season, the Elks' "movie" ball, held on Monday evening, taxed Freeman's hall and the several other halls in the building, to capacity. It is estimated that fully four thousand were present soon after the opening of the festivities at 8:00 o'clock. Portsmouth Lodge, Number 97, D. P. O. Elks have added another success to their already long list and a list of the names of those present would be a list to recite than that of those who attended. The ball was a distinct success, from the opening number of the concert program, the reception, the cabaret show in the annex, the dancing in K. of P. hall, to the last waltz.

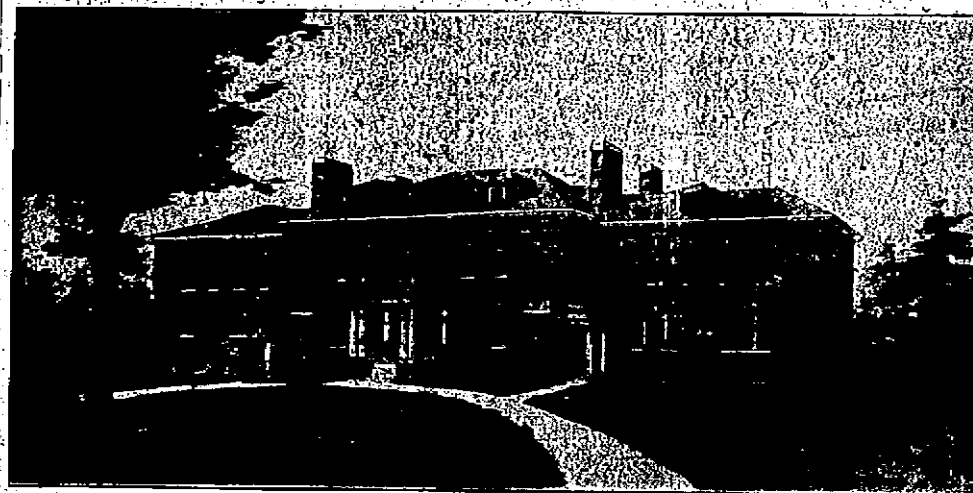

The entire building was nicely decorated, the color scheme in the main hall being pink and blue, practically every inch of the walls and wood work being covered. The stage was set with numerous baskets filled with flowers, and screened by a lattice. The national flag also played a prominent part in the decorative scheme, several having been fastened to the walls over the stage and draped from the balcony. A dozen or more United States pennants were draped from the center chandelier to points on the railing of the balcony. Over the stage the "Elks" clock and a large painting of an elk stood out with striking effect, and at the time of the "last waltz" the "Elks" clock was the only spot in the hall to remain lighted.

At 8:00 o'clock the guests were being received by the officers of the lodge and the Elks' Orchestra, under the direction of William C. McElroy, rendered a fine concert program. The concert included two xylophone solo numbers which were excellently rendered and heartily applauded, played by George Hotten, formerly of the

NEW HOME FOR CHILDREN

Portsmouth's newest public institution, the Chase Home for Children, will likely be opened in July according to the present plans of the board of management. This long needed home for the care of juveniles is located in a picturesque spot among the pines off Alldredge road, on the property formerly owned by the late Joseph H. Chase.

The building is 120 feet long and 36 feet wide. It has three floors and a basement and will be fire-proof from top to bottom. In constructing the home system of fire-proofing is used from cellar to attic. The outside walls are of brick lined up with tin on the inside with fire-proof doors throughout. In the basement will be located the laundry, boiler, drying room, play room and other rooms unassigned. The first floor will contain recreation room, matron's office, kitchen, living room and service dining room. The second floor will contain some private rooms, boys' dormitory, girls' dormitory, matron's room and an assistant matron's room. The third floor space will be taken up by the boys' and girls' ward nurses' rooms and store rooms. The building was constructed for $25,000, the contract price of Lord and Perkins who began the work in September, 1915. The building is practically completed with the exception of the steam heating system, electric lighting and plumbing. Cullen and McCarthy will do the heating work. The painting will be done by F. A. Gray and Co. The plumbing by John G. Sweetser and the electric work by W. L. Truitt & Son.

PEACE REIGNS IN IRELAND

One Thousand Rebel Prisoners in Hands of British Government, Including Four Leaders of the Ill-starred Revolt

(Special to The Herald)

London, May 2.—Peace reigns once more in Ireland. In the wake of the ill-starred uprising however, the existence of a political situation fraught with menace. Parliament convened today with the government facing fresh attacks and in the face of this bitter criticism, the way must be paved for further legislation on conscription.

Although Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Ulster Unionists, and John Redmond leader of the Irish Nationalists have promised not to make political capital out of the Irish rebellion, the uprising has had such powerful effect upon the public mind that its influence will have strong bearing upon deliberations in the House of Commons for some time.

The government finds itself with approximately 1000 rebel prisoners on its hands, including four of the leaders who have done most to incite civil war. They are Sir George Casement, Peter Dwyer, the self-proclaimed provisional president of the Republic of Ireland, James Connolly, commander-in-chief of the rebel forces and Countess Markievicz. Demands are pouring in upon the government that the strongest possible punishment be dealt out to them. Some of the Tory newspapers insist that the ringleaders of the Irish revolt be tried for treason, and that long terms of imprisonment be meted out to their armed followers. On the other hand, anxiety exists in some quarters that harsh measures would inflame to a higher pitch the feeling that has been aroused in Ireland by the flame of war and bloodshed.

NEMO WEEK

NEMO WEEK is a good time to study Nemo Corsets, and learn all about the exclusive patented inventions that have placed them in a class alone, and made "Nemo" a household word in every country where corsets are worn.

This Nemo Week is an exceptionally good time to buy Nemo Corsets, for the reason that, in all probability, the tremendously increased cost of production will compel higher retail prices for most Nemo models. Women who are already obliged to "pay more" for almost everything will understand why this is.

During Nemo Week, however, and until further notice, you can choose from our full stocks at usual prices—

WITH THE SPORTS

(By Frank G. Menke)

The American turf needs more real jockeys. There is a dearth of experienced running horse pilots at this time and many good ponies fail to gain brackets simply because of their bad handling.

In the halcyon days of the turf there was a superfluity of great jockeys. "Popo" owned by one "Popo" was thrown out of employment after followed other "bads" or "professionals". Since the revival in many parts of the country it has become appallingly apparent that there are only a score or two of real riders in the land. The others who are classed as jockeys are far from it.

Many of the boys riding races today are not even capable to gallop their own horses. A jockey must be trained gradually to be a real success. But the bulk of the riders of today have jumped from the job of stable boy to the peaks of the thoroughbreds. The horse owners realize that their mounts are inefficiently handled but they are getting the best boys possible.

The fault is that during the past two or three years no effort has been made to train boys for their important task of riding race horses. The families benefited by some owners who have employed expert trainers to educate their rookies. In two years or so the pupils will emerge as full fledged jockeys, fully fitted with riding knowledge.

But until then the majority of the horses will be driven by jockeys riding by boys whose lack of riding knowledge will lead down to defeat many a good horse which, if properly handled would be a consistent winner.

When peace was made in baseball, Barney Dreyfuss, owner of the Pirates uttered words. They were to the effect that the Federal pitchers were no good. Barney explained the fine records of some Fed pitchers by declaring that they ought to be arrested for pitching against bush leaguers.

George McConnell was one of the Fed leaguers indicted by Barney on the charge of being a minor leaguer. He was with the Chicago Feds last year. This year he is with the Cubs. And now we wonder what Barney has been saying since this same bush leaguer shot out Barney's own Pirates and allowed them exactly one hit.

Also Barney said that the Feds couldn't hit. He said the husky batting averages compiled last year in the Chicago circuit were due to poor pitching and a lively ball.

Well, back again the 1916 transplants show up Barney. If Barney will take the grand batting average of the Federal league players to date—both in the National and American league and compare it with the grand batting average of the American and National leagues, he will find that the Feds are hitting the ball with vigor.

Frank Moran hopes to challenge John D. Rockefeller for the financial championship of the world. "I realize that John has a few millions on me at the present time, but I am coming strong," murmured the blonde-batter.

And he is—he has come along faster in a financial way than any other non-champion in the entire history of the ring.

Seven months ago Moran was broke. Then he fought Jim Coffey and got $5000 for that fight. A few months later he fought it again with Coffey and got $5000. Then came the Moran-Willard fight which netted Moran nearly $25,000, with addition picture rights included.

Add to that what he has made in the theatrical work and newspaper "writings" and the grand total is around $50,000 in seven months.

Moran has in sight two other matches, one with Carl Morris, which may net him between $30,000 and $45,000; the other with Jack Dillon and will bring him $15,000 at least. If he loses through with these fights before October it will mean that the income for this non-champion, heavyweight will be about $100,000.

The newest chapter in the remarkable history of Peter the Great, the trotting stallion was written the other day when W. B. D. Stokes, of New York told him to Stoughton, Fletcher, the California horseman for $50,000.

That's a huge price for any horse yet the figure seems more amazing when one recalls that the sire in 21 years old—his age far beyond the average for horses.

There are some folks who think Fletcher gambled desperately when he paid $50,000 for the horse—just Mr. Fletcher has different views. He is confident that Peter the Great will live at least three or four years longer and that during that stretch of time he will get back his $50,000 and $50,000 more, through breeding the animal.

The story of Peter the Great is a real romance of the turf; one that deals with the most remarkable animal of his era and probably of all time.

The late B. D. Streeter of Kalamazoo, Mich., bred him and then sent him into the big Kentucky Futurity for three year olds. Peter the Great won home in easy winner. A short time later he was sold for a fair sum to the late Malcolm Forbes of Boston.

Year after year Peter the Great showed greater bursts of speed. In 1909 he went to his record mark—2:07.1-4 on the Empire City track in New York. Soon afterward Forbes ordered him placed in stud but no real effort was made to breed him to the top-notch mares. The great sire, however, in the same stable and the fastest mares were mated with him.

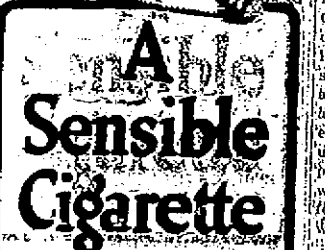

Somewhere along in 1903 or 1904, Forbes put Peter the Great on the auction block in New York. Stokes, impressed with the "get" of the horse during the short time he was in stud, bid up to $3,000, or $4,000 for him—and Peter the Great became the property of the New York millionaire.

Immediately afterward the stallion was placed in stud again and since then has sired the fastest family of trotters in history. Thirty-six of his foals have stepped in 2:10 or better. The record book shows that he has among his offspring 201 trotters with a record better than standard—2:30 and 27 pieces which have gone in 2:25 or better.

The wonderful Peter Mac is one of his sons. The Mac horse now has a record of 2:03.1-4 and is looked to do 2:02 or better this summer. Peter Volo, 2:03 is another Peter the Great foal. As a two year old, Peter Volo raced in 2:01 and in his third year he took a record of 2:02.1-2. There are many who predict that Volo may go to 2 minutes before his racing days are over.

When Stokes purchased the stallion

FATIMA 20 for 15c

no one figured that this investment would make such amazing returns. Yet Stokes has cleared approximately $200,000 through his ownership of Peter the Great and $50,000 of that came from the sale and the rest through stud fees during the past twelve years.

THE RIFLE SHOOTING CITIZENRY

From a national defense standpoint the training in rifle practice of the unorganized militia is of as vital importance to our country as the training of the regular establishment and he organized militia. The volunteer who can hit what he shoots at is eighty per cent efficient as a soldier.

The United States government has stored away in its arsenals approximately 300,000 (Krag) U. S. magazine rifles, model 1903, and 30,000,000 ball cartridges for single "Smo" will issue these rifles and the ammunition to be organized rifle clubs affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America for use of members at small arms practice.

During the first quarter of 1916 just ended the Ordnance Department issued to clubs 316 rifles and 1,438,974 ball cartridges.

President Woodrow Wilson must have had in mind the rifle club movement when he wrote his message to Congress in which he said: "We must depend in every time of national peril in the future as in the past, not upon a standing army, but upon a reserve army, that upon a sudden emergency will be able to take the place of the regular army."

The rifle club movement is a part of the national defense program. It is a part of the national defense program. It is a part of the national defense program.

The object of the National Rifle Association is to encourage marksmanship throughout the United States, practically in the direction of qualifying its financial marksmen those individuals who may be called upon to serve in time of war.

The Association membership on December 31, 1915, as reported by the Secretary, was: 23 State Rifle Associations; 63 Regiments; 47 Separate military organizations; 624 civilian rifle clubs; 61 college and university rifle clubs; 123 school rifle clubs; 9 boys rifle clubs; 643 Life Members; 943 annual members.

During the past three months (January 1st to March 31st) 1916 inclusive, the National Rifle Association has gained in membership as follows: 1 State Association; 1 Regiment; 170 Civilian Rifle Clubs; 4 College and University Rifle Clubs; 19 School Rifle Clubs; 4 Boys Rifle Clubs; 24 Life Members; 137 Annual Members.

The National Rifle Association was incorporated in 1871 and since that time has been the one active agent in promoting rifle practice in the United States.

U. S. DEPARTMENT TO TRY EFFICIENCY PLAN

Washington, May 2.—The state department has installed an efficiency system that may result in the dropping of a number of employees. The system is called a "decided advance" over other systems in operation in some of the departments.

A special efficiency board appointed by Secretary of State Lansing, consisting of Asst. Secretary Osborn, Director Carr of the Consular Bureau and Chief Clerk Ben Davis, put the system into effect to obtain better service from employees.

All promotions for places paying salaries of $1800 or less are to be filled by the efficiency board's recommendations, which are to be based on "ability, efficiency, faithful performance of duty and good conduct." Rec. Lansing will personally designate who shall be appointed to places paying more than $1800 a year when vacancies occur.

When employees fall below a certain standard they are liable to dismissal. Those whose work is rated as being above a certain standard are put on a list of possibilities for promotion.

ANNIVERSARY OF MANILLA BATTLE

Admiral George Dewey Paid High Tribute by Secretary of Navy Daniels.

Washington, May 2.—Admiral Dewey on Monday celebrated the 15th anniversary of the battle of Manila. No plan had been made for any special celebration so far as the hero of the day personally was concerned.

As president of the navy general board Admiral Dewey was at his desk as usual giving personal attention to the duties of his office.

Secretary Daniels and others of his advisory council made their annual pilgrimages to Admiral Dewey's office and Mr. Daniels expressed his good wishes.

"For all time," said the secretary, "history will teach that Dewey, the sailor, was equalled only by Dewey, the statesman. You recognized the capacity of the Philippines, appreciated their love of liberty, but you were careful to enter into no alliance that could embarrass the American government in its future policy."

"Your fellow workers in this, upholding of a stronger navy, wish to you more years of usefulness in the noble profession you adorn."

FEAR RUST PLAQUE WILL ATTACK PINES

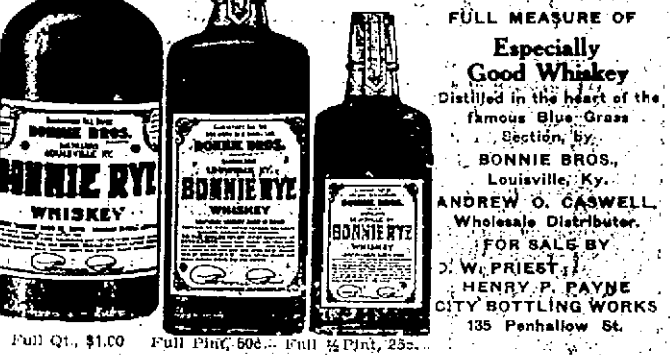

Washington, May 2.—The stock of Eastern nurserymen is a menace to the western white pine forests, the Department of Agriculture has announced. In an effort to preclude the necessity for a federal plant quarantining, the department has asked eastern nurserymen not to ship white pine, currant and gooseberry plants west of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. The department fears the spreading of the west of the white pine blister rust, which has been found on eastern plants.

The department estimated the total value of far western forests at $210,000,000, which would be in serious danger if the rust reached that section of the country.

The rust has now gained a foothold in six eastern states, and is believed to be in the Ohio valley. Gooseberries and currants carry the rust as well as the pine plants themselves.

CONCORD DROPS THE BLACKLIST

Chief of Police Was Against the Renewal

The blacklist of drinking residents of Concord will not be in effect this coming year. The greater part of those who have been banned from drinking publicly had their rights restored today, but there are a few whose 12 months, which is the time the ban is in effect, will not expire for a week or two.

The blacklist has been one of the features of the license law since its enactment 13 years ago and time when practically every town in the state with license had one or more delinquent from drinking at the bars. The system was dropped in a number of the cities some time ago, however, but Concord continued it until this year. After studying the effects in other cities, Marshal George A. S. Kimball and Deputy Marshal Victor I. Moore decided not to renew the blacklist this year and observe how it works in Concord.

If there should be careless disregard of the proprieties by the dealers, it would be a simple matter to restore the system, as all that is necessary is for the marshal to put anybody back on at any time.

GERMANS THROWN BACK IN VERDUN ASSAULT

Paris, May 1.—German troops in dense masses made a violent attack on positions captured by the French north of Verdun. The attack was defeated by the French, the War Office report of this afternoon says. The Germans, the announcement states, suffered "enormous losses."

Two simultaneous counter attacks by the Germans on a trench captured yesterday by the French north of Cambray were repulsed. At Hill 301 and in the Vaux region, there was incessant bombardment.

A French aerial squadron bombarded a supply and munitions station south of Thiaucourt and a camp near Spincourt.

French Capture Trench from German Tonight's report says:

"West of the Meuse our first and second lines in the region of Le Mort Homme were violently bombarded. North of Cambray our troops took possession of a German trench in the course of the day and made thirty prisoners."

"East of the Meuse and in the Woivre the day was comparatively calm. On the rest of the front nothing occurred except the usual cannonading."

Capture of a German trench north of Verdun, May 1.—The British official statement issued yesterday afternoon. In the Vosges a German aeroplane was forced to earth by French machines and its two officers captured.

The text of the statement follows: "In the region south of Lassigny the Germans last night after a lively cannonade, directed a small attack upon our positions near Hameau. The enemy which had gained a foothold in an element in the trenches, was immediately ejected by our counter-attack."

"On the left bank of the Meuse there was a bombardment in the section of Avocourt and the region of Fames. At the close of the day our troops seized a German trench north of Verdun Hill and made fifty-three prisoners, of whom one was an officer."

"On the left bank and in the Woivre there was intermittent artillery activity."

"In the Vosges the enemy during the night attempted three coups de main upon our trenches in Ban-de-Sapt, Telo de Flux and south of Lassigny, which were everywhere repulsed with losses."

German Offensive Weakening

Paris, May 1.—The battle at Verdun, says a semi-official statement, appears to be reviving somewhat but with none of its former violence. "There is a great difference," the statement adds, "between the random attempts which are crushed almost as soon as they are begun, and the massed attacks of Feb. 21 and April 9. After sixty-nine days of a struggle as tremendous as it is vain, the German effort cannot renew itself with the same intensity."

"Not only has the German offensive hitherto failed, inasmuch as it has not secured its chief object, Verdun, but it has considerably enfeebled the offensive power of the enemy's fighting forces."

Russians Repulse Turk Guards

Petrograd, May 1.—The official war report issued says:

"In the Caucasus region, near Dlabek, we repulsed an offensive by Turkish advance guards."

Russians Regain Trenches

Petrograd, May 1.—The following official communication was issued:

"In the Riga region the enemy artillery concentrated its fire on Shlok and south of Dolen Island. The region of Teelburg, northwest of Jacob stand was also subjected to an artillery fire. Artillery duels have taken place at many places on the Dvinsk front."

"In the region west of Lake Narocz the fighting has diminished in intensity. We repulsed by our fire an enemy attempt to detach from his entanglements north of Kievo."

"North of Moutavitz, after heavy artillery preparations, the Austrians at dawn yesterday attacked with considerable forces our trenches forming the salient west of the village of Boyarka. They were held by a single company which was compelled to retire. Our detachments then opened a violent artillery fire and a counter-attack and by one o'clock, despite gusts of enemy fire, we recaptured the lost trenches, with all of their surviving Magyar garrison, totaling twenty-two officers and over six hundred men, who surrendered their arms."

The reconquered trenches were filled with dead or wounded Magyars. Our losses were four officers and one hundred soldiers. We captured a great number of rifles and considerable munitions and other booty."

German Gas Attack Fails

London, May 1.—The British official statement, issued says:

"Last night the enemy, showed some activity. Near Fricourt he made an unsuccessful raid against our trenches after the explosion of a mine and a heavy bombardment."

"North of the Meuse-Wulverghem road he liberated gas about one o'clock in the morning on a front of about two thousand yards, and followed this with an infantry attack which was broken up by our artillery fire. At one point only did it partially enter our trenches. This party was immediately bombed out.

"Combined with this attack the enemy, after a heavy bombardment, attempted an attack with bombers near Holschesheghu. This was equally unsuccessful against our machine gun fire and bombs. Several dead were left lying in front of our wire."

"In the Loos salient there has been active underground mine warfare. Yesterday we carried out an effective bombardment of hostile works along the Ypres-Pillieux road."

... Fighting Walst Deep in Mud... British Headquarters in France, via London, May 1.—The physical difficulty of any extended movement under dry weather sets in, is explained by the experience of a battalion which took a section of a German trench on the Ypres Langemark road after two days' spring rains. The attacking forces sank up to their arms in the morass, which was spotted with shell craters filled with water, helping themselves along with their rifles, half crawling half swimming, under shell fire.

After the trench had been taken the men dug out the wounded and those stuck in the mire who were not wounded. One corporal, himself wounded, took two and a half hours to bring another wounded man six hundred yards through a bog.

A German counter-attack, caught soundering in the mud by machine gun fire, gave up the attempt and withdrew.

Dixmude Heavily Bombarded

Paris, May 1.—The Belgian official communication reads: "The region around Dixmude was heavily bombarded last night on both sides of the Yser. The artillery duel was resumed in the morning. Calm prevailed on the rest of the front."

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, May 1.—This is Clean-up and Paint-up week all over New England. The slogan of "beautifying all surroundings" is being carried out.

One of the most interesting features of the week is the contest for a silver cup for the city or town that makes the best showing in Paint-up and Clean-up work. Over 300 cities and towns in New England are competing for this prize. Such organizations as improvement associations, women's clubs and other societies have joined with the civic authorities in carrying out the slogan of the week. The cup for the best work in this campaign is at present the property of Hartford, Ct., which won the cup last year.

Greater Boston has been well placated with bulletins, so that it will be an exceedingly dense individual who fails to grasp the fact that the city is paring with its unsightly urban accumulations. The Boston Clean-up and Paint-up movement will extend over two weeks, covering every detail of beautifying home and public property. The children of the city will be impressed with the importance of assisting by a lending up their back yards and of helping to keep the city streets clean. Short talks on the purpose of the two weeks campaign was given in all the elementary school this morning. A reward for good work will be the moving picture show in Tremont Temple Saturday, May 20, for the children of the fourteen districts who report the best work to the local committee chairman. An special attack will be made on the unsightly vacant lots in the less populated sections of the city. Today is fire prevention day.

Other special days are Tuesday and Wednesday, clean house days; Thursday, cellar and back yard day; Friday, railroad and front yard day; Saturday, children's day.

Plans for obtaining the Elks' national convention for Boston in 1917 have been outlined by a preliminary committee of the Boston Elks' club and within the next few days Exalted Ruler Frank C. Farr will appoint committees to investigate ways and means. The committees will start to work immediately following their appointment in order that a complete report of resources and facilities for handling a convention may be in shape before the national convention which will be held this week in Baltimore during the week of July 12.

The undertaking is a big one but the local Elks feel that, with the help of various civil and industrial organizations in Boston and the co-operation of other lodges in the state, about 50 in number, the convention would be handled here more successfully.

"Every man in the U. S. should be obliged by law to get a military training," declared Colonel Edward L. Logan of the Ninth Regiment, M. V. M. in an address on "Preparedness," at the South Boston High school. Colonel Logan asserted that all the military forces of the country, as they are at present constituted could be put into Braxton field. This would include the militia, he said for at least 50 per cent of the National Guard, which is rated at 125,000 strong—never would go to war, for one reason or another. "For more than a year we have been sitting on dynamite," said Col. Logan. "When this war is over, the United States will look like a big prize to the winner. New York city alone would pay the war debt of either England or Germany. To take New York would be only a frolic for a trained army." Col. Logan said that the U. S. army was at its highest efficiency at the close of 1865. Today, he said, the troops in mobile service are only 55,000 and half of these are abroad.

Boston, May 2.—That the administration of state finances is not systematic and that present officials are not responsible for the condition of things, which has been a slow growth covering a long period in the report of the Massachusetts Economy and Efficiency Board in its report to the governor and executive council. These recommendations are made: That all revenues except those exclusively for the Metropolitan district sinking fund and land registration assurance fund, be placed in the general fund. That no revenues be expended without specific appropriation by the general court. This recommendation applies to metropolitan district revenues, as well as those for general state departments and institutions. That additions and extensions to institutions, armories, highways and other public undertakings and improvements be financed from revenues, and that bonds be issued only for financing the establishment of institutions or the initial undertaking of large public works and improvements. That the expenditure of all future bonds be brought under effective control. That the present section of law authorizing the issue of armory bonds be repealed, that revenue appropriations be made for the salaries and expenses of the armory commission, for all repairs and improvements in armories, and for the purchase of all supplies and equipment for armories. It is further recommended that the armory commission be required to submit estimates and plans for any new armories or other work which they may wish to recommend and that the legislature authorize specific revenue appropriations or loans when justified by conditions, for such of the armory commission's recommendations as may be adopted.

According to the bulletin for April issued by the state health department ten per cent of the deaths in the U. S. result from pneumonia. It is estimated that in the last thirty days, this rate has doubled in some sections. The bulletin states: "Tuberculosis and heart disease, each causing one-third of all fatalities, are the only diseases that outrank pneumonia among the legion of the death of men, but in certain cities pneumonia is steadily increasing and even has surpassed the mortality from tuberculosis. Society of all cases occur, between December and May. It is distinctly a cold weather infection, seemingly brought by winter blasts, but especially prevalent during the winter season only because its victims are rendered more susceptible at that time by exposure, debilitating influences and the presence of predisposing infections."

A demonstration by submarine and submerging chasers is one of the novel features planned for Navy Day in Boston on May 13. There are now at the Boston Navy yard in Charlestown the submarines L-1 and L-2, built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, which are the latest and most effective afloat for the United States, and which equal those of the big foreign navies. There are also ten submarines built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company for the British government.

Secretary Daniels has given his approval of the day. Governor Samuel W. McCall and Mayor James J. Curley has been invited to deliver addresses on Preparedness and the presence of men eminent in political, civil and religious life is expected.

CONSERVATION CONGRESS DISCUSSES UNITED STATES WAR NEEDS

Washington, May 2.—Mobilization of the country's natural resources as a means of strengthening national defense and efficiency, was the keynote of speeches delivered at the opening session of the sixth annual meeting of the National Conservation Congress here today.

The congress, which will continue in session three days will devote practically all of its time to discussions, with a view to drafting the mobilization plan. A fight of national proportions on the water power question seemed imminent today and strong feeling is expected to crop out in the debates which precede a vote of the congress on the issue.

The first hour of the congress were consumed with welcoming addresses and reports of the national officers. Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who was present as the representative of President Wilson spoke briefly in praise of the work of the congress.

B. Leo Worsham of Atlanta, Ga., president of the organization, in his annual address asserted that it is essential that the industrial leaders of the nation rally together in the task of lifting stock and devising plans for developing and utilizing the resources of the nation. Mr. Worsham said that the alleged inherent weakness of the United States can be in a measure offset by the very weight of her tremendous resources, provided these resources be coupled with perfect organization toward the one purpose of national defense.

One of the biggest matters before the conference, Mr. Worsham announced was the question of water power in its relation to the manufacture of nitrates for fertilizers and explosives. To urged the delegates to consider what would happen to the U. S. if it should be cut off from other nations by war, since it is dependent entirely upon Chile for nitrates, the basis of all explosives, thought he said, the question of making nitrates from the air by means of water power.

USE GEORGIA FELDSPAR IN PLACE OF POTASH

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—With potash commanding from $500 to $600 a ton and hard to get at any price, a search for the precious substance has been started in the hills of North Georgia. So far potash has not been discovered but great quantities of feldspar are being taken out and crushed to be used for fertilizer. Feldspar contains from 6 to 15 per cent of potash and when exposed for a year or two in the fields makes an excellent substitute for the commercial fertilizer.

Unless potash can be applied to the soil of a large area, in the south "rust" attacks cotton and small grain. Last year very little potash could be produced but there was enough left in the soil from the previous year to make a crop.

MILL HELP GET RAISE

Work will be resumed today at the woolen mill of the Cochee Manufacturing company at East Rochester where a strike of spinners and weavers began Friday. It is announced that a general increase in wages of 10 per cent has been granted in all departments.

At a conference between the weavers and Samuel Hinds of Boston, one of the directors of the company, and Agent William H. Bagley, both the weavers and spinners accepted the advance offered. The spinners had demanded a 16 per cent increase.

ENGINEER PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO MANSLAUGHTER

DRIVER OF NEW HAVEN EXPRESS IN CRASH AT BRADFORD HELD IN $5000.

West Kingston, R. I., May 1.—Charles H. Mansfield of New Haven, Ct., engineer of the Gilt Edge express which was in collision with a local train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford at Bradford on April 17, causing the death of five passengers, pleaded not guilty today to two indictments which were returned by a special grand jury last Friday, alleging that Mansfield was responsible for the deaths of Miss Janet Clarke of Westbury and Mrs. Olivia Mantell of Southbridge, Mass.

Judge Charles M. Stearns of the superior court, who presided at today's hearing, allowed Mansfield 10 days in which to withdraw his plea, if he desired. He was released on $5000 bonds.

The state's attorneys urged a speedy trial and suggested that it open next Monday. Justice Stearns, however, said that because of the serious nature of the charges the defendant should be allowed ample time to prepare his defense. The case probably will not be tried until September.

In testimony before interstate commerce commission, investigators after the wreck Engineer Mansfield asserted that the signals in the towers at Bradford were not in a conflicting manner, the distant mark being at clear and the first "home" signal against him.

Current Comment.

What They Said in 1913.

(From the Manchester Mirror).

Rep. James W. Collier (Dem.) of Mississippi: "We have given to the tolling masses free meat, free bread, free coffee, free salt, free flour, free meat, and free boots and shoes."

And six months after Democratic tariff law was passed 5,000,000 of the tolling masses were free because the mills were closed. Then some of them got free soup and free bread if they stood in line long enough.

Rep. Lincoln Dixon (Dem.) of Indiana: "We have given the farmer free agricultural implements—plows, tooth and disk harrows, barbed wire, reapers, threshing machines, wagons, binding wire, cream separators, barbed wire, and fencing."

Nearly everything the farmer produced was put on the free list. Imports of farm products during the first ten months of the tariff law were nearly 2 1/2 times greater than for the corresponding period under the republican law the year previously. And the price of farm implements increased. The farmer was twice-knocked from the front, and stabbed from the rear.

Rep. Tom Hefflin (Dem.) of Alabama: "What is your tariff board for? You know and the people know what it is for. It is for the protection of the tariff."

of tariff revision." (Applause on the Democratic side.)

Woodrow Wilson now demands that Mr. Hefflin and his Democratic colleagues pass a bill at the earliest possible date before the November election, providing for a tariff commission. What is Mr. Wilson's board for?

Rep. Warren Worth Ballou (Dem.) of Pennsylvania: "I shall be greatly disappointed should this tariff fail to increase enormously both imports and exports."

Mr. Ballou's free-trade heart must have been gladdened to know that, according to Secretary Redfield's report just issued, imports of goods coming into competition with American products increased $145,000,000 in the first nine months' operation of the Democratic law, compared with a similar period under the Republican law, but exports fell of $100,000,000.

Rep. Gorman (Dem.) of Illinois: "Shoddy, noils and vegetable fibers are said to be huge constituents in what now passes for pure wool and is charged for as such. This is another of the many evils of a prohibitive tariff. It enables the manufacturer to foist upon the consumer a cheap inferior article."

The Republican law placed a duty of 25 cents a pound on shoddy, and none came in. The Democrats put shoddy on the free list to date Dec. 1, 1913, and from that date to June 30, 1914, it came in to the value of one million dollars—the rays of pauper Europe made up for foreign sweatshops in competition with our legitimate wool manufacturing industries.

Rep. Hammond (Dem.) of Minnesota: "This is the people's tariff bill. It marks a new era in the social and industrial development of our great country."

The "new era" was marked by trade demoralization, bankruptcy, and 5,000,000 jobless men within the ten months from the time the Underwood tariff law was passed, October 1913, to the time war was declared, August 1, 1914.

Washing, May 1.—Preliminary figures of the 1914 census of manufactures announced today by the Department of Commerce, show an increase of $2,299,281 or 47.7 per cent in the manufacture of dyes, and a total increase over the 1909 figures of $4,622,416 or 27.1 per cent, with 133 establishments operating in 1914, nine more than when the 1909 census was taken. Slight changes are expected to be made in these figures by the final report.

Among the general increase is recorded a 63.9 per cent jump in mordants, assistants and sizes, $1,167,424 worth above the 1909 output; and a $719,750 or 10.1 per cent increase in tanning materials. The total value of the products was $21,341,122 including dyes, assistants valued at $7,113,523, tanning materials valued at $5,044,225, and other products worth $1,333,312.

Of the establishments reported in 1914, 23 were engaged primarily in other industries and manufactured as by-products dyes, assistants and extracts, chiefly assistants and tanning extracts—valued at $764,365. In the 1909 census, 17 such establishments reported similar by-products valued at $831,102.

SOUTH FEARS TOO MUCH COTTON HAS BEEN PLANTED

Jackson, Miss., May 1.—An increase of from 15 to 20 per cent in the cotton acreage this spring is being predicted. This increase will be made in spite of the fact that in almost every community in the south farmers have held meetings and passed resolutions calling upon the farmers to reduce the cotton acreage, cut down the output and keep the price. It appears many farmers, believing the acreage would be reduced by their neighbors and that in consequence a short crop would be produced and good prices would be valued, have bent every energy to plant more cotton than usual.

More cotton will be planted in the fall than in the past. There has been planted in several years as farmers have learned how to successfully cope with the pests.

NATIONAL FOREST FURNISHES CASCARA BARK.

Washington, May 1.—Thirty-six thousand pounds of cascara bark were cut on the Shushaw National Forest in Oregon, during the latter half of last year, according to the Government's foresters. A steady demand for this bark for medicinal purposes, both in the United States and in Europe, is reported to exist. Before the war most of the exported product went to England and Germany.

The cascara bark industry began, it is asserted, in California about 1865 and for many years California led in the production of bark, exporting as much as 50,000 pounds in a single year. Now western Oregon and to a lesser degree Washington, are the chief sources of supply. The forest experts say that the destructive methods usually practiced in obtaining the bark have resulted in almost exterminating the cascara tree on privately owned land, leaving the National Forests as the last available source of supply.

The trees from which cascara bark is obtained is variously known as cascara, chittim, and beguery. It is said that bears are very fond of the black, berry-like fruit which the tree produces and sometimes scratch the bark badly in climbing the trees to secure it. The bear-scratched trees are so difficult to peel that they are frequently left by the bark gatherers, thus providing a few seed trees to help perpetuate the species.

Most of the cascara bark is peeled by settlers and small ranchers in the regions where it grows. The peeling season opens in April and closes when the bark begins to lighten in August. Bark obtained on the National Forests is cut under methods that provide for a future supply. Stumps six inches high are left with the bark undisturbed. These sprout readily and produce new trees. The bark is taken off the tree in as long strips as possible, spread on canvas or other material to keep it off the ground, and dried in the sun. In some localities it is no unusual sight to see the ranchers' fences and smaller buildings covered with the drying bark.

It is said that peeling and selling cascara bark has furnished many a poor homesteader with the grub stake necessary to keep him going while he was getting land cleared and ready for cultivation. Fifteen years ago the bark was still plentiful and worth ten to twenty cents a pound, which meant a good profit for the bark gatherer. For the last seven years the price has been from 3 1/2 to 6 cents per pound at Portland, so the ranchers have lost much of their interest in bark peeling, and only engage in it when nothing better is in sight.

GERMAN CITIES SEIZE EGGS AND SELL THEM.

Munich, May 1.—In many German cities the authorities have taken charge of the sale of eggs, to prevent extortion by farmers and speculators. The start was made by the city of Amburg which confiscated 11,582 eggs brought to market and sold them at 2 1/2 cents a piece. A "strictly fresh" lot was sold at three cents each.

HOTEL WILL HAVE NEWSPAPER FILES

HOSTELRY IN TIMES SQUARE, NEW YORK, HAS ROOM FOR ALL PAPERS

One of the many unique features of the Hotel Commonwealth, the world's largest hotel, which is planned for the Times Square district of New York, is a newspaper room to contain files of practically every newspaper published in the United States. Charles H. Ingersoll, the "dollar watch" millionaire, is president of the Commonwealth Hotel Construction Corporation, a huge cooperative concern, capitalized at $15,000,000 for which it is planned to obtain approximately 150,000 shareholders, each subscribing $100. Each is to receive in return dividends and rebates on expenditures for food and lodging, to be paid out of the net earnings.

The 150,000 cooperators are being called in all parts of the United States, principally among the ranks of those who occasionally visit New York. Hence the demand for the big newspaper room where the patron of the hotel will find the papers from his home town on file. Needless to say this collection of American newspapers will be about the most complete ever attempted. The Hotel Commonwealth is to have more than 2500 guest rooms and is to be about twice the size of any hotel now existing.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., May 1.—L. A. Carlisle of the New Hampshire State College extension service, in charge of the Boys and Girls Club work, will organize clubs all over the state this year, instead of in a few counties as heretofore. The interest in this work has become so marked that a state-wide effort seems to be demanded.

In the spring of 1914 when the undertaking was begun 21 clubs were organized with 187 members who actually planted crops. Last year there were 47 clubs with 521 active members and it is estimated that all over the United States there are more than 300,000 club members.

The aim of the work is to interest boys and girls in the activities of rural life; to demonstrate the value of improved methods in crop culture, canning and sewing; and to demonstrate that farming is a dignified, profitable and profitable calling. This year in addition to the usual prizes the Ayrshire Breeders Association offers a bull calf to the boy in each county of the state who wins in the field corn growing contest.

Last year John McKeeney, a fifteen year old boy from North Chichester won the state championship as a grower of field corn. He produced his corn at the lowest figure any club contestant has yet reached.

On an officially measured quarter acre he raised 19.22 bushels of shelled corn, containing 12 per cent moisture, which makes a yield equivalent in the rate per acre of 76.9 bushels. This yield is more than twice the average production for the state. Being much interested in the corn work he cultivated a full acre, measuring off in August what appeared to be the best quarter acre for the contest. Accurate account of the cost of labor and material used was kept for the entire acre. Allowing seven dollars per ton for the value of the fodder, he shows by his expense book that the average bushel was produced for 24.97¢. Four other boys in the same contest had costs less than fifty cents per bushel. His score in the state contest was as follows:

Yield 30

Cost 30

On Monday afternoon the P. A. C. and the Navy Yard team will battle for honors in the first game of the Sunset League season of 1916. Nothing will prevent a big crowd from being present but the weather man.

The directors have made a ruling that in case of all overthrows at first, second and home bases the runner shall not take more than one extra base, and he shall be required to apply that base.
